Customer Reviews ★★★★★

"I was looking for a mural artist for my Pediatric clinic. I was impressed with Jasmin's work on her website and specifically with her self reflection. It gave me the impression that there was depth to this artist. She worked with us for about a month when there weren't any patients in the clinic. She was very organized artist and creative, she came up with amazing murals for 15 individual rooms. The children have been ecstatic and in awe with all the beautiful work. It helps the children relax as clinic visits can be anxiety provoking.

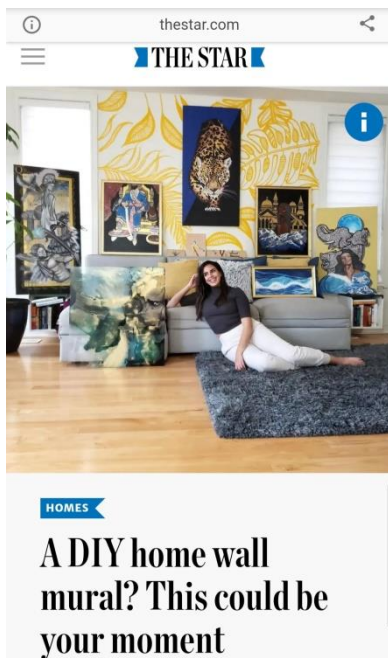

I would highly recommend Jasmin for her creativity and her professionalism!"

If your walls have you thinking about climbing them, consider mural art instead.

As we stay home and mostly indoors during the coronavirus pandemic, your empty walls may be staring right back at you.

"The more time you spend in your space, the more you think 'Could that wall use something?'" said artist Jasmin Pannu. "People are spending more time in their home now and they're starting to notice the environment that they live in as well as the ambience they want to create."
